The Forest and Stream, of New York, has offered a fish book to the correspondent that could tell the biggest fish story, entries at wil and go as you please. In the past month that paper has been filled with contributions from all sections of the Union and some from Europe. Yesterday "Chasseur," a correspondent of the Gozotte, received by mail a big fish hook, and this was the fish story he told;

ALEXANDBIA VA., Dec. 13, 1879. Editor Forest and Stream:

In the spring of 1876 I was an invited guest of the Captrio on the United States sterner l'inxion, bound for France. Oa our way out we encountered a wreck, which was dismantled. with oothing but the hull timbers remaining, There was no sign of the name, but on coc-uitav the files of the shipping intelligence of Lloyd's Gazette, the Captain came to the conclusion that it was the Botsy Jane, lost a year before, on her way between Bos.ou and Toulon, France, with all on board, and an assorted cargo of French toys and musical instruments. A few days efferwards some sailors fishing from the stern cought an immens shark, which wonderful to relate, seemed to unter from his mouth sweeter sounds, more ravishing notes, than ever come from Orphens' harp .-The sailors wanted to kill and open him, but the Captain refused and order a huge tank to be filled up on deck and the monster of the deep confined therein. All this time from the belly of the shark come sweet music-now fast, now slow; now an air from "Man ba;" a nece turne from Chapin, then a gen from Rossini.

A strange fact we all noticed:-When the music played slow he swam gently in his pricon. "Ab! I have sighed to rest me, of Trovatore" made him sentimental, but when the box played "The Devil's Dream" the tack could hardly hold him. After many hours the music changed to "Sweet By and Bye," and the shark's move ments became more languid and slow, and when the strains of "Picafore" were played the fish pined away; huge tears dropped from his eyes, and he drooped and died. They opened him and found a paten backaction automatic go-as you please, perpetua motion music box,

Diana was built, as Pliny says, on a sofe foundation, to guard against the shocks of carthe quakes. The foundation, therefore, was laid in a swamp, wood and charcoal were interposed to absorb the wet, and the grobes form a subterrancan labyrinth, ie which water stagnates, all of which is so at the present day. The suger structure beats all the evidences of an edifice which was destroyed eight times, and took two hundred and eighty years in building and rebuilding. It now consists of several walls of immense blocks of murble, the fronts of which are periorated small with cavities, igto which were sunk the shacks of brass and silver plates with which the walls were laced. In several places where the walls have fallen, they have exposed corpiess and moidings of a former edifice, against which the new walls have been built up.

Some of the vast porphyry pillars which formed the front portico still lie prostrate before it; but others were brought by Constantine to this new city of Constantinople. The heathen tem-ple was dilapidated to build the Christian church of St. Sophia, in which these pillars ere again become the great support of an anti-Christian edifice. But the most interesting circumstance of the building is the greatillustration it gives of the acts of the Apostles. Here is the place where St. Paul excited the commetion among the silver and brass smiths who worked for the temple, and over the way was the theatre into which the people rushed, carrying with them Gaius and Aristarchus, Paul's companions. Hence they had a full view of the magnificent front of the temple, which they pointed out as that "which all As a worshipeth," and in their enthusiasm they cried out, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" to whom such a temple belonged.

CHILD TRAFFIC IN HONG KONG, - Oa the most recent accasion of his passing sentence on a prisoner convicted of kidnapping, the chief justice of Hong Hong evidently saw no reason to imagine that the traffic in childred is less than was estimated, or that the institution of slavery is less extended than it has been stated to be. There being from ten thousand to twenty thousand slaves in the island, not surprising to find that a pretty well understood salable value, for the chattels has been determined. In the case last before the court, the market price of a stolen child, "warranted like a horse," was fixed by "a competent judge" at one hundred delars. As his honor suggested, it can had'y be wondered at that poor wretches who go to the colony should readily soutch at any chance of obtaining one hundred dollars so easily, espicially, as is added with fine irony, in view of "the morality previling in that part of the world."

Dr. Tutt: Dear Sir—During this year I treated hine hundred cases of lung diseases. In the lower wards of the city the cases were of a very severe type. It was there my attention was exited to Tutt's Expecterant, and I confess my surprise at its wonderful power. During a prac-tice of twenty years I have never known a medicine to act as premptly and with such happy effects. It instently subdued the most violen fits of coughing, and invariably cured the disease in a few days. I cheerfully endorse it as the best lung medicine I ever used

A NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER WRITES

Office Evening News, Augusta, Ga. Dr. Tutt: Dear Sir-My little son was attack-ed with pneumonia last winter, which left him with a violent cough that lasted till within a month since, for the cure of which I am indebted to your valuable Expectorant. I had tried most everything recommended, but none did any good until I used your Expectorant, one bottle of which removed the cough entirely. With many thanks, I am yours truly, JOHN M. WEIGLE.

HAD TERRIBLE NIGHT SWEATS.

Memphis, February 11, 1871. Dr. Tutt: Sir-I have been suffering for near-ly two years with a severe cough. When I commenced taking your Expectorant I was reduced to one hundred and sixteen pounds in weight. I had tried almost everything; had terriple right sweats. I have taken half dozen botties. The night sweats have left me, the cough has disappeared, and I have gained fifteen pounds in flesh. I recommend it to all my friends. With great respect, OLIVER RICK.

IMPONTANT QUESTIONS. Reader, have you caught a cold? Are you unable to raise the phiegm? Have you an irritation in the threat? A sense of oppression on the lungs, with short breath? Do you have a fit of couching on lying down? A sharp pain now and then in a region of the heart, shoulders and back? IFSO, CURADVICE Is to take at once a dose of Tutt's Expectorant; you will st once a desc of Tutt's Expectorant; you will soon be able to raise the phlegm. In an hour repeat the Expectorant, place a hot iron to the feet take two of Tutt's Pills. You will soon fall into a pleasant sleep and wake up in the morning cough gone, lungs working freely; easy breathing and the bowels moving in a natural manner. To prevent a return of these symptoms use the Expectorant several days.
